

Please do not pass legislation that will weaken the no call list law. In my household, both the cell and landline phones are on the no call list and even then at times certain businesses have chosen to call our landline number. I am worried that if the law is weakened in any way, that this will send the message to some businesses that it really isn't a big deal to break this law. Also, what steps can an individual take to report violators of the law which is already in place and what happens to these businesses as a result? I consider these unwanted interruptions in my life an invasion of my privacy...big time!
